PLEASE NOTE: Your virtual registration entitles you to the two components of the Denominational Celebration: the livestream on June 29-July 2 and the recording of it. The livestream is happening in real time; this means attendees will not be able to stop and start the broadcast at their own pace on June 29-July 2. The event is happening in the Eastern Time zone. Please do not panic if you log in at your own time zone and the conference is already underway - simply join in and know you will have full access to the livestreamed sessions to watch at your own pace and preference once the event is complete. We will get it out as soon as our small but valiant media team employees and celebration event volunteers can manage!
